

Rush Complex Anorectal Disease Program

The Rush Complex Anorectal Disease Program specializes in treating recurrent anorectal conditions.

Our program is tailored for patients who failed first-line treatment or have a recurrent benign anorectal condition. We use the latest treatments and technologies, including laser-guided therapy and other minimally-invasive procedures. This is done in an effort to minimize larger incisions and damage to muscles crucial to continence.

Our program is located in Oak Brook, giving patients and providers an easy-to-reach destination in the community to treat difficult anorectal issues.
